

Georgia Peanut Production Word Search

There are four types of peanuts: Spanish, Valencia, Virginia, & Runner. To get the peanut seed into the ground, the farmer will use a planter. Once it's time to harvest the crop, a digger is used get the peanuts out of the ground. After the peanuts are dug, they are flipped over to dry in the sun. Then they are then picked by a machine called a combine. The stem, leaf, flower, peg, embryo, taproot, & pod are parts of a peanut plant. Did you know that peanuts are not nuts at all, they're actually a legume? This means they are nitrogen-fixing and grow underground.
